PART 1: PRE-APPROVAL OF STUDY PLAN

Under normal circumstances, students will receive departmental approval in advance for their studies as recorded below. It is possible to “mix and match” the method of study. (For example: some private lessons during a semester abroad might be combined with experiences at a music festival during the summer months to make up the total number of hours of instruction needed for the assigned credits for Performance Instruction.) For an academic class, some combination of project and examination might be an option.

A. The student will prepare a written plan of study in consultation with a faculty member from the department for which credit is requested. This should include provisions for the evaluation of the work involved (e.g. a jury examination, or written project).

   Department approval of plan of study and method of evaluation

B. The work undertaken should be equivalent to work loads in regular Blair courses. 2 credits of lessons, for instance, would reflect 14 weeks of work, guidance by a musician with credentials equivalent to Blair faculty, and repertory suitable to the student’s level of study.

   Department approval of work load and assigned credits

C. If the study plan involves guided study (e.g. lessons with non-Blair faculty, study at a music festival, etc.) the student should provide the department with a description of the instructor’s professional credentials

   Department approval of non-Blair instructor

Additionally, the student needs the approval of his or her Adviser and of the Associate Dean and must meet University (the Blair School of Music) requirements for credit by examination as stated in the Vanderbilt Undergraduate Catalog.
